

150 Miles Behind Front Historic Dunkerque Still Held by German Garrison

By The Canadian Press.

A German garrison isolated more than 150 miles behind the western front retains its hold on historic Dunkerque on the French North Sea coast.

Some 8,000 enemy troops were cut off when the Allies' summer drive swept past the French port, which the British had evacuated an army of 40,000 about rescue fleets before abandoning it June 4, 1940.

Allied sources have a 25-mile siege line about Dunkerque and subject the Germans regularly to bombardment. Neutralized short of transport, munitions and supplies, the garrison is causing no real trouble.

Dunkerque was last reported invaded by British troops of the 1st Canadian Army. For a time Czech troops under Gen. Czerwik occupied it. The 1st Canadian Army's sweep along the channel coast of France and into Belgium cut off the enemy force at Dunkerque, some 150 miles behind the British expeditionary force in 1940.

The Germans do fit up with siege duty Allied requirements which might be employed in more active sectors and prevent the use of port facilities for supplies, repairs and evacuation.

Much the same situation applies at Lorent, St. Nazaire, Bordeaux, the Vannes area and the channel islands. It was estimated in London last week that about a total of 116,000 German troops were penned in these positions behind the Allied lines.

North England Shaken "Hard" By Earthquake

LONDON, Dec. 30.—(CP)—An earthquake termed by seismologists the worst to be felt in Britain "for some years" shook northern England early today. There were no immediate reports of damage.

Buildings in Manchester were reported "violently shaken" and many were felt in West Bromwich, 30 miles distant, and at Leeds, 116 miles from Manchester. The tremors began at 1:36 a.m. (8:36 p.m. EDT, Friday).

Seismologist J. J. W. Shaw at West Bromwich said indications were the quake was the most severe in Britain "for some years," termed it a "severe vibration for this country."

Tremors began slowly and built up for 45 seconds. "HB vibrations continuing for two minutes. Shaw said preliminary indications were that the centre of the disturbance probably lay in the southern part of Manchester and Darlington.

The last extensive earthquake shock in Britain occurred before the First Great War when vibrations were felt between London and Aberdeen.

Nazi Salient Is Narrowed By Americans

day since Longchamps had been evacuated in northern edge of the original Nazi pocket.

UNDER OUNFIRE
A front dispatch this evening declared the forces and armoured hitting the west of the German salient have narrowed the distance between the north and south flanks to such an extent that our gun units are now firing at the enemy from a mile of the enemy sector between Manhay in the north and Bastogne in the south.

Meatline action flared on the British 2nd Army sector northwest of Gielenkirchen. In the region of Gielenkirchen, the German forces launched an infantry attack and gained "some initial success."

U.S. Gen. Dempsey's 10th Army Corps burst the enemy's offensive by wounding about 100 Germans and taking 20 prisoners, according to the communiqué reported.

Gannett is on the frontier separating the Netherlands from Germany.

A front dispatch said German night patrols crossed the Meuse (Moselle) river in Holland four days ago, but were driven off while trying to sneak up the Western canal in Belgium.

No action was reported from the 1st Canadian Army front for the past several days. Gen. Crerar's men have met intensified enemy attacks.

HIT NORTH FLANK
The U.S. 3rd Army, which fought four days of battles by Thursday, within 13 miles of U.S. 1st Army troops hitting Field Marshal von Rundstedt's northern flank.

For close to three days, von Rundstedt had been held without gain.

The most acute question today was whether the German commander was pulling his armor out.

Admittedly he still had enough armor to make a last ditch effort, but 48 hours of concealing his armor and his tanks in the forests and hills had been successful in keeping them out of the line.

U.S. DIVISIONS
On the 1st, no immediate indication that von Rundstedt was preparing to make a last ditch effort.

On the 1st, the names of himself and other German divisions were reported.

A London spokesman for King George refused to indicate his belief that the King was expected to remain in the Royal suite for the time being.

Reports circulated recently that he was searching for a house in the country to which he could retire until the Greek people decide whether they want him to return.

TALKS WITH CHURCHILL
King George conferred late last night with Churchill at the home of the Prime Minister returned from Athens and immediately after a lunch cabinet meeting at which Churchill reported on his mission to Greece.

Some observers suggested the possibility that King George might abdicate rather than be ruled by the puppet government of the British dominion.

At least one conference with Churchill, he was understood to have sought a regency council instead of a king.

MANY DEVELOPMENTS
Developments in the Greek situation were coming thick and fast, both in London and in Athens.

A British United Press dispatch from Athens said the Elia command sent Churchill a message of congratulations on his return to London.

"Could you call an emergency ambulance, sir? And Happy New Year to you!"

Explains Kiss—In a Hurry!
TORONTO, Dec. 30.—(CP)—Capt. Peter Bell, wounded veteran of two wars, took a telephone call Christmas Eve in Saskatoon an explanation of how he came to kiss actress Louise Snyder, currently playing the part of Rosemary in "The Girl in the Red Coat" in Toronto.

A newspaper photographer took a picture of the incident "so I thought I better call you and explain it in case you see the picture," Capt. Bell told his wife.

Capt. Bell, who is not supposed to raise his head off his bed, explained he took a place as a Christmas Eve in Saskatoon to see Louise Snyder, who is the lead of the attractive young actress to claim his kiss when she and other members of the cast of the play visited the hospital Thursday.

"I understand perfectly," Mrs. Bell said over the telephone, "but aren't you getting a little old for that kind of nonsense?"

On one occasion he was reported to have visited German authorities to protest against the execution of hostages. He was said to have offered another list of men ready to be shot in their stead.

Developments in the Greek situation were coming thick and fast, both in London and in Athens.

A British United Press dispatch from Athens said the Elia command sent Churchill a message of congratulations on his return to London.

Reports circulated recently that he was searching for a house in the country to which he could retire until the Greek people decide whether they want him to return.

TALKS WITH CHURCHILL
King George conferred late last night with Churchill at the home of the Prime Minister returned from Athens and immediately after a lunch cabinet meeting at which Churchill reported on his mission to Greece.

Some observers suggested the possibility that King George might abdicate rather than be ruled by the puppet government of the British dominion.

Reinforcements Are Exceeding Number Sought

OWEN SOUND, Ont. Dec. 30.—(CP)—Defence Minister McCord announced today that overseas reinforcements to an even greater scale than that demanded and promised are well assured.

He made the announcement in a New Year's address prepared for delivery from a local radio station, broadcast to the residents of Owen Sound, which he visited on his way to Toronto.

"I can report to you," he said, "that reinforcements for our forces in northwest Europe and in Italy to an even greater scale than that demanded and promised are well assured. So much so that we now have a surplus of men and equipment for bringing back to Canada the men of very long service overseas and replacing them with others who have not yet given their share of service."

NO ELABORATION
He did not elaborate on this statement, which might mean that a re-mustering process and voluntary enlistment of men for overseas defence drafts had given him a surplus of about 400 long service men to the 16,000 conscripted for overseas service by the new government reinforcement policy.

In a previous speech at his nomination convention here, Gen. McNaughton had announced that while he had originally promised to bring back about 400 long service men home for Christmas, he then anticipated to have about 1,000 with their families by the New Year.

He said the Canadian munitions industry had agreed to supply the needs at full capacity and an even greater supply was being planned for the battle front.

SHOULD BE LESSON
He spoke of the German counter-offensive in northwest Europe, and declared: "As I speak again, and perhaps decisive battle are being fought and success hangs in the balance. I have faith and confidence in our forces, but I am sure it is a lesson that we must not ever again lapse into complacency."

He felt Canadians could look forward "with renewed confidence" on the outcome of the campaign.

He spoke of the wire of optimism that had spread through the nation when "self-appointed prophets" said that this nation would be the last to be hit by the German blitz.

SERIES OF SHOCKS
"Our first rude shock came when we became aware of our reserves in the north and west of the country," he said, "and we have since become depleted and we are now facing the prospect that our units and formations might not be able to continue to play their full part in the maintenance and pressure against the German strongholds in the West."

On Leave Here "King-Pin" Nazi Taken by Yanks

MONSIEUR, Germany, Dec. 30.—(AP)—A king-pin prisoner taken by the Americans in the German offensive is suggesting Lt. Col. Friedrich von der Heyde, paroled from command where he had taken the Allies in Africa from Normandy.

Arrogant as ever, Von der Heyde was dropped on his most important mission the night of Dec. 17 in the leader of 600 German troops in the German offensive in France. Most of his men were rounded up quickly, but five days, although suffering injuries, the obscure officer fought his way to the front. He surrendered to Americans holding this town.

Camera's Evidence of Nazi Death Camp

Near Natzwiller, France, another German "horror camp" is reported to have been discovered. There, French say, 4,000 men, slave labor for the Nazis, were forced to repair airplane engines until their usefulness ended, then were gassed to death, cremated and their ashes sent to relatives.

Photos above show, left to right, generator used to fill execution chamber with deadly fumes; FFI men inspecting crematory furnaces; and another FFI fighter examining urns used for victim's ashes. Photo below is exterior view of gas chamber and crematory.

Pl. 33504 Pilots of the aircraft which flew the Moose squadron's 1,000th sortie by Canadian-built Lancasters and the 3,000th sortie of this veteran unit of Royal Canadian Air Force Bomber Group Overseas, shake hands before taking off. The twin milestones were attained during a recent attack on war plants at Dortmund, in the German Ruhr. Flight Lieut. Cliff Black of Yarmouth, N.S., and McAdam, N.B., is the pilot behind the bomb who did the 1,000th sortie, while Flying Officer Doug. Griffith of Capreol, Ont., on the other side, was the pilot who did the 3,000th sortie. Looking on are Flight Sergeant L. E. Cromell, Collingwood, Ont., left, the former's mid-upper gunner, and Flying Officer F. C. Topp, Plato, Sask., the latter's navigator. Pl. Black was formerly employed at Baie Comeau, Que., by the Ontario Paper Company and P.O. Griffith was a Canadian National Railways brakeman.

Sir Harry Lauder Visits Navy Show

One of the highlights at the opening of the Royal Canadian Navy's show, "Meet the Navy," at Glasgow recently, was the appearance of Sir Harry Lauder. The camera caught him surrounded by a bevy of beautiful Wrens backstage. The show is touring the United Kingdom after a successful coast to coast run in Canada and Newfoundland. It is expected to tour the continent sometime in January before playing in London.

It's probably just another press agent's stunt, but it is certainly worth making a memo of the fact that eye-fall Virginia Mayo, above, Hollywood actress, has been appropriately dubbed, "The Girl Most Likely to Be Whipped at in 1955." And it's not too early to start practicing.

Collects Next Year

Nearly six years ago, when she was 14, Gloria Peterson of Chicago won a $50,000 prize in the Irish sweepstakes when her horse, "Kilstar," finished third in the Grand National at Aintree, England. But officials at the time ruled that Gloria could not collect until she was 21. Now 20, Gloria works and waits at an art studio in Chicago. She'll get $25,000 next year, after the government takes its tax slice.

Bert Brandt, famous Acme Newspictures-NEA Service frontline photographer, poses, above, wearing one of the souvenirs he brought back from the German front. One of a large stock found in Gestapo headquarters in Aachen. It is a Nazi "Victory Cap." Brandt says that he was told in Aachen that the Germans were so sure of crushing the Allies that they had not only designed, but had actually produced this gaudy headgear, to be worn by German officers in the victory parades in Paris, London, Moscow and, likely enough to the Nazi mind, Washington. It is flashy and cock-looking, but like so many things Nazi, its phony quality becomes apparent on close examination.

Air Marshal Receives Award

Air Marshal W. A. ## Special Service Soldiers Return

Some day it will be possible to tell the tales of daring-do of the 1st Special Service Force, that mystery force which drew picked men from the armies of two nations for its ranks. They are parachutists, infantrymen, and generally military jacks of all trades whose exploits eclipse the legendary epics of the Foreign Legion. Here are some of them who returned to Canada from overseas on Christmas Day after action for the most part in the foothills of the Italian Alps. This action required their employment as super-infantry, scaling to the attacks up granite precipices on whose peaks the Germans had dug in to position calculated to be impregnable. They are: Upper: Sgt. G. A. Bradley, Ridgeville, Ont., Ptes. L. ### Millet Air Ace Finds Hockey More Interesting Than Award

MILLET: F. O. Dallas Schmidt, DFC, is too interested in local hockey games to spend much time discussing how he won his coveted decoration—the Distinguished Flying Cross and Bar—in the thick of air fighting in Europe and points east.

A reporter called at his home this week to find the airman absent. He couldn't get to the airport for the hockey match and asked him about some of his experiences—particularly his Malta adventures. "They were interesting and exciting," he smiled. And how did he win his DFC and bar? "There's a copy of the citation around somewhere if anyone wants to see it," he said. So another look was chosen and he was asked how he liked being home. The officer gave a broad smile right away. He likes his home town, is glad to be back, and put a particular kick out of eating the Christmas tree for his family's celebrations. He decorated it too—and for a man who is more used to decorating Nazi aircraft with machine gun bullets, he did very well.

Dallas Schmidt was born in Wexham and spent most of his life at Millet. As a youngster he was well known here. He did most of the jobs boys do for extra money, attended Millet public and high schools and was a basketball player. He was a pilot with top marks in his class. He was stationed at Malta for six months and then saw more than 20 months service in Rhodesia, South Africa.

With his leave "up" on Jan. 17, he reports back to headquarters for retraining and home. He is another overseas assignment.

Highlight of Schmidt's Malta experiences was probably the occasion when his long range fighter aircraft was so shot up by the enemy that he couldn't land it. The engine could do nothing but make the aircraft ascend. He finally got back to earth by cutting the engine to arrest the climb, bounciness a little when the dive became too steep and finally hitting the silk over his own airfield.

Greek Trouble Is Discussed By CCF Speaker

William Irvine, CCF candidate for the Cariboo B.C. federal constituency, Friday evening declared that had Canada had a national spokesman who would have let the Premier Winston Churchill know months, or even years ago, what this country's position would be in such affairs as the tragedy of Greece, there would have been no necessity for the British leader to inform his parliament that he had not had time to consult the dominions regarding their stand.

And on what was probably a hopefully prophetic note, Mr. Irvine stated "The CCF will look after that."

Mr. Irvine was addressing an audience that turned out for the Edmonton CCF Association's concert and dance in the IOOF hall, 103 street, and his deliberations on the Greek question followed his discussion of how the CCF, assuming it would be elected to power at the next Dominion election, would face the new world "that has been talked about ever since the war started" by noting certain failures of the old world, more especially, the old Canada. Under the failures of the old world, the conduct of Canada's war effort came in for some weighty criticism.

SAYS CAPITALISM FAILS

The speaker proceeded to note the failure of capitalism to meet the exigencies of war "because it either would not, or could not, provide the capital necessary for the expansion of industry to the point where all our war necessities could be provided, because capitalism refused to work on defense on the same basis as our soldiers worked on the defense of the country."

To remedy this situation, the speaker continued, the government had to provide public capital by turning over the capital from the public treasury, indirectly, to private individuals to allow industrial expansion, and provided a billion dollars from the public treasury to get war industries that now stand in the name of the Crown.

The "grandfather of the CCF movement here" (the speaker was so introduced to the meeting by Edmonton President Arthur Thornton) made reference in his address to the conservation of wealth. "If wealth were conserved," he remarked, "there would be less trouble in conserving men." He declared that the trouble in conserving men existed because the government knew that if men were conserved, the public would demand that wealth be conserved.

WELFARE PROGRAM

Assuming once again that the CCF would win electoral favor in the next Dominion election, Mr. Irvine proposed a nation-wide program of public welfare to absorb all the people and include such essentials of human life as health and education. The objective of such a program, he said, would be a standard of living in keeping with the modern world's capacity to produce goods. It would discover the extent of the nation's needs so that production could be adjusted to those needs.

THE HEART OF CANADA IS STRONG

NEW YEAR 1945 finds the people of Canada calmly confident, but determined that no effort shall be relaxed to hasten the day of victory. Deep within us is a quiet pride in the record of our nation during five years of war. Canada is strong. On battlefield and production line we have proven it . . . and we have proven it on the farms.

Our farms have given almost a quarter of their manpower to the fighting forces and to industry. But our army of the soil has not faltered. Boys and girls, fathers and mothers—even grandparents have stepped into the breach to fight the battle of food—and won! In 1943 Canadian farms topped their pre-war output by over 50%.

We at Palm Dairies especially know and admire the record of the Canadian dairy farmer. Such basic foods as milk, butter, cheese and ice cream furnish rugged, staying power to a people at war. The care of animals demands tough, hard work and year-round daily care. Yet Canadian milk production has risen steadily during war, and in the first half of 1944 reached an all-time high.

At the close of another year we greet the farmer . . . by his strength and industry may he prosper.

A STRANGER

THE Teenie Weenies had little trouble with their bird and animal neighbors—that is, with the exception of Ginky. He was just an out and out bad mouse and the Teenie Weenies had to watch him constantly. On the other hand, the two respectable mice were kindly and behaved themselves as decent mice should. Skippy, the chipmunk, was honest and a very good neighbor. Of course, Nick, the squirrel, was one of the little people's oldest and most trusted friends.

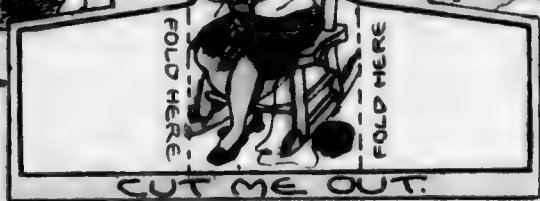

There were a few neighbors, though, that the Teenie Weenies didn't care much about, especially the weasels and a skunk that lived nearby. This skunk was always prowling about at night and the Teenie Weenies had to be sure that nothing was left out, for the old fellow would eat anything in sight. However, he did clean up all the Teenie Weenie garbage. Each evening the Teenie Weenies would carry their thimble garbage can to a spot some distance from the village and during the night that skunk would lick up every last scrap of garbage. That saved the Teenie Weenie men a lot of work, for they didn't have to bury the thimbleful of garbage every day.

The birds about the Teenie Weenie village were very good neighbors. They were most polite and never bothered the Teenie Weenies. Teasing Tom, the blue jay, sometimes teased the little people, but he seldom caused them any real trouble. Whenever the Teenie Weenies did have any trouble with birds it was usually because they were strange birds, like the one that flew off with the Lady of Fashion's stockings.

THE TEENIE WEEENIES

BY WM. DONAHEY

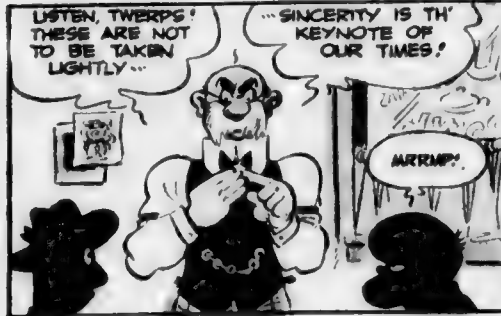

The Lady of Fashion is mighty handy with her tiny fishbone knitting needles. She knits all her stockings from spider web which the Teenie Weenie Indian brings to her, for he knows where to find the best and strongest web.

The Lady of Fashion had just finished knitting two pairs of Teenie Weenie stockings. She dyed them a fashionable shade of tan and hung them out in the sunshine on the back porch to dry. Shortly afterwards there was a great rush of wings and a bird flew down.

Catching three of the stockings in its beak it flew away almost before the Teenie Weenies knew what had happened.

The Dunce and the Chinaman saw the bird. They said it was a stranger. The Turk and the Cook also failed to recognize the bird, so it must have lived a long way from the Teenie Weenie village. Anyhow, the Teenie Weenies never saw the bird again and those tiny stockings were probably used to line a bird's nest instead of going onto Teenie Weenie legs.

Chief sources of revenue were race meeting profits, $9,382.87; grant from the provincial government, $4,000; and $1,000 Model T race meet, $1,000. City of Edmonton 1944 grant, $8,500; by National Defense Department, $8,500; and profit from the spring bull sale, $1,232.38.

The directors decided to write off $85,000 depreciation on the grounds at the grounds holding each building in the balance sheet at $1 value.

The balance sheet showed the assets of the association at $22,790.00, with a surplus of $18,967.48 and liabilities of $3,822.52.

Lee S. Williams, president of the association, spoke at length, reviewed the work carried on by the association during the year, and commended livestock growers in northern Alberta for their wholehearted support of the association. He commended also the staff members.

Charles E. Wilson, managing director, outlined the work of the director, and intimated that the scope of the association's work in connection with boys' and girls' clubs would be enlarged.

He said that negotiations were being carried on with the provincial department of agriculture to increase the clubs' activities at the summer fairs.

PROVIDE QUARTERS
He stated also that buildings were being allocated at the grounds to provide quarters for the boys and girls between 200 and 300 boys and girls attending the summer fair, and also that steps were being taken, in conjunction with the provincial department of agriculture, to hold a series of classes at the grounds at which instruction in agricultural matters would be given the boys and girls attending.

He told the shareholders that the date of the summer fair would be definitely settled at the meeting of the Western Canada Fair Association to be held in Winnipeg late in January.

The following directors were elected by the shareholders: Fred W. Kemp, Angus McDowell, S. Albert, R. W. Price, L. M. Roy, L. Williams and Gordon Macdonald.

A meeting of the directors will be held on Jan. 5 next to elect officers for the coming year, and to some delegates to attend the meeting in Winnipeg.

The next annual meeting of the shareholders will be held on December 28, 1945, in the council chamber of the Civic Block.

Dignitaries Extend New Year's Greetings

LT. GOV. J. C. BOWEN

Conspicuous by its absence at this season is the usual "light" bearing word that is customary among us. In this New Year of the war we are much more conscious of its terrible realities. The ever increasing exactions of human life, and material resources, leave the deep impression upon us, of the bitter and the conflict. Though the year is definitely in view, and victory is luminous on the horizon the going will be harder, before we are finally triumphant. In the presence of the immediate challenge we greet the New Year cheerfully and in confident hope.

There are many homes in our province where the shadow of sorrow hangs heavily. Many who went forth from us cheerfully, and bravely shall not return home again. This fact becomes a bond of sympathy which links the whole community in a deep feeling of winning. We share with them also, a justifiable grief in those who have dedicated themselves to a great cause, strive always in good faith and high courage. A vigorous patriot, after he has been fatally wounded, wrote to his unborn son, a very poignant message, in which he said, "Keep your fear of life, but throw away your fear of death. Life must be lived or it is lost, but it should not be lived too well."

In nearly every community in this province there are active service personnel who have returned home after service in a war zone. They have served their country and the cause of freedom. We cordially welcome them home, and to the place in life and activities of the province. Some are in hospitals undergoing treatment. We wish them good cheer, and a speedy recovery.

This New Year may be designated in human history as a new epoch. The future course of civilization may be definitely changed in this year of Victory and Peace. New and tremendous responsibilities, challenge the latest insights of our generation. Our way shall lead to splendid achievements, if we have our individual hopes and aspirations upon the

MAYOR JOHN W. FRY

Let us hope that in 1945 we shall see the European war brought to a victorious close and a vigorous and crushing offensive launched against the Japanese.

If we are to emerge victorious from this world struggle, we must play our parts, however humble these may seem, to back up our men now fighting bravely on fire-flooded German soil, in the mud of Italy and in other battle areas. We must continue to purchase Victory Bonds to the limit of our ability and must accept however losses caused by war in a cheerful and uncomplaining spirit.

While these thoughts have been foremost in the minds of your civic officers, we have given considerable study also to the future of your city in the post-war period. We should like to see a more useful and modern Edmonton, a city renewed throughout the domain for its beautiful homes, fine streets and parks and modern conveniences.

With this in mind, your civic administration has set aside large sums in reserves with the purpose of carrying out an extensive post-war program of civic improvements and reconstruction. Only shortages of labor and materials have delayed this program for so long. Perhaps in the New Year, we shall be able to make a modest beginning.

In the New Year we also hope to see ironed out the difficulties which have blocked the operation of the National Housing Act in the province so that the city's housing shortage may be relieved through this fine piece of legislation.

Again I wish you, each and every citizen of Edmonton, a most prosperous and happy new year!

PREMIER ERNEST MANNING

The New Year reviving old desires brings with it its greetings its hopes for happiness and its promise of ultimate victory, reminders of the grim lessons of the past year that should make men of wisdom pause to wonder if we have hoped too much and prayed not yet enough.

Throughout another fruitful year our harvests and our flocks, our herds, our forests, lakes and streams and even the very rocks themselves have yielded for our use and comfort their widely varied treasures most bountifully. Throughout another year of war and conflict we have faced crisis after crisis and have passed through them often unscathed, but our human efforts were not in themselves sufficient to bring us through. We have been harassed with internal dissension at home and even among the United Nations abroad and yet on each occasion at the darkest hour the storm clouds have lifted and the light has shown through. As we stand on the threshold of a New Year the time has come, not only for a complete realization but a wholly sincere acceptance of the indelible truth that these blessings have not been wrought by mankind alone. The Silent Partner has stood and still stands at our right hand in every living moment. By His Grace and in His strength alone can we prevail.

This is a crucial hour in human history—an hour that calls not only for strength but for courage and faith and unselfish understanding. May we, the citizens of Alberta, prove throughout the coming year that we have that courage and that faith and that understanding I sincerely believe that our people and not the least among them our valiant generation of bettered youth facing an uncertain future in a war-torn world, can and shall, with the help of God, arise and make those evil things which threaten the good and welfare of mankind.

The oldest laws in the world are those of cause and effect. Every cause produces a certain result. Every result is the outcome of a certain cause. Let us then wisely devote our energies to the removal

Appointments To Civic Posts Are Approved

Edmonton's city council Friday afternoon appointed members of the different civic boards, gave third reading to three bylaws covering capitalization of local improvements carried out during the year, and also gave third reading to the bylaw governing the payment of land and improvement taxes.

Council also approved the sale for $10,000 cash of four lots on the east side of 160 street immediately north of 161 avenue. The purchaser's name was not disclosed, but the commission, in their report, stated that it was the buyer's intention to use the property for warehouse purposes, and that a structure of not less than $30,000 value would be erected on it.

The following recommendations of the nominating committee of council were approved:

Gen. Approval Board, A. S. S. Bowcott; Town Planning Commission, Prof. C. S. Burgess, R. V. Bellamy and H. G. Moore, all for three years; Zoning Appeal Board, S. T. Lavin for five years; an representative of the Edmonton Real Estate Association, Boiling Commission, C. H. Croft, R. L. Dadds, and F. W. Kemp, all for two years; Board of Health, H. D. Ainslie and A. C. E. Garpey, K.C. for one year; Dr. G. A. Gennep, Public School Board representative; J. A. Gallant, Separate School Board representative; and Dr. E. A. H. Roe, representing the medical profession. He was appointed for a two-year term. Other appointments were for one year.

The following were appointed directors of the Edmonton Exhibition Association: A. L. Ainslie, H. D. Ainslie, A. M. Durney, A. C. E. Garpey, K.C., J. D. Patterson, Len P. Brown, J. T. Clarke, and H. W. Madison.

Appointments to the Hospital Board were: Aldermen Fred J. Mitchell, H. D. Ainslie and Sidney Paterson, Guy Patterson, K.C., and Fraser Duncan, K.C. They were appointed for five years.

The Library Board nominees to serve for two years were: J. O. Pilon, W. D. Spence and P. J. Lanza. All of these officers were chosen which means renewed will continue to produce life and affections from which the human race is suffering today. As we contemplate the task of building a better world, let us remember that the materials and the tools have been provided for us by Almighty God who also is the Master Architect whose plan we must follow if our work is not to be in vain.

May we then cross the threshold of this New Year firmly resolved to "fill each underlying minute with sixty seconds full of distance run." May nothing deter us in our labors to make of 1945 a solid stepping stone along the pathway that leads through troubled waters to that happy epoch which shall bring forth truth, fidelity, fraternity and wisdom which alone Time have laid unbroken in the vaulted caverns of the destiny of man.
